Presented by:

Reasons for Revisions

• Contract forms last revised in 2010.
• Preparing to contract for newly available water from the System Operation Permit
• Addressing other critical issues including:
  – Regulatory requirements
  – Changes in statute
  – State water conditions and
  – BRA operations.
Reasons for Revisions

• Water sold via the System Operation Permit will require specific contractual provisions not applicable to current long-term contracts.
• Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) regulations and changes to state water conditions since 2010 have also necessitated modification to contract terms.
• Ensuring consistency with BRA water sale policy, water sale practices and current statutory language
The revisions to the water contract forms consist primarily of the following:

- Updates to definitions and provisions to reflect current statutes, BRA water sale policy, and water sale practices;
- Strengthening of remedies available to BRA in case of curtailment, drought or customer default;
- Addition of sections containing provisions either required or related to the System Operation Permit; and
- Other non-substantive edits, such as rearranging or condensing content.
